Harvest of 2019

From 9 September to 10 October

A year marked by an unstable climate but with relatively moderate climatic conditions during the growing season and the summer, resulted in late maturation of the grapes, and, as a consequence, the harvest was commenced later than in the previous 5 years.

During the vegetative growth period of the vines, the climate was very unstable, which required special care in terms of diseases and pests, extremely important during the maximum growth period of the vines.

The long ripening period, with mild temperatures, gave rise to profound wines with intense colour, structured by fine tannins, with great complexity and high precision.

Mirabilis Red is inspired by the line of great wines in the world, where textures, aromas, gravity and transparency are created.

After the judicious selection of the best plots and a vintage "manicure", this wine goes into confrontation with the origin of the raw material, putting the concept of terroir on the sidelines.

It is an unrepeatable wine, not duplicate year after year, with a heterogeneous composition of small quantities, few liters of each of the best barrels, going through a long proof of skills to the final result.

Mirabilis mirrors the Viticulture years with the highest depth of Quinta Nova de Nossa Senhora do Carmo, reflecting in a dense wine, intense aromas, three-dimensional, enormous physical persistence, deep and very precise.

A wine that spills our understanding... and calmly approaches human maturity.
